NO RETREAT: President Bush and his Estonian counterpart, President Toomas Hendrik Ilves, arrive for a press conference in Tallinn, Estonia, on Tuesday. Beginning his high-stakes mission abroad, Bush rejected suggestions that Iraq has fallen into civil war and vowed that the U.S. will not leave the country "until the mission is complete." ♦ Next stop: Bush to meet with Iraqi PM | Page 10

U.S. Bills Unfair to The Blind

Indistinguishable currency discriminates, judge rules

WASHINGTON | The government discriminates against blind people by printing money that all looks and feels the same, a federal judge said Tuesday in a ruling that could change the face of American currency.

U.S. District Judge James Robertson ordered the Treasury Department to come up with ways for the blind to tell bills apart. He said he wouldn't tell officials how to fix the problem, but he ordered them to begin working on it.

"Of the more than 180 countries that issue paper currency, only the United States prints bills that are identical in size and color in all their denominations," Robertson wrote. "More than 100 of the other issuers vary their bills in size according to denomination, and every other issuer includes at least some features that help the visually impaired."

Government attorneys argued that forcing the Treasury Department to change the size of the bills or add texture would make it harder to prevent counterfeiting. Robertson was not swayed.

Electronic devices are available to help blind people differentiate between bills, but many complain that they are slow, expensive and unreliable. Visually impaired shoppers frequently rely on store clerks to help them.

The government has 10 days to decide whether to appeal. MATT APUZZO (AP)

BETTER BILLS

→ The American Council of the Blind has proposed printing bills of differing sizes, adding embossed dots or foil to the paper, or using raised ink.

FRAUD | Not a Guy-necologist A Vereeniging, South Africa, man was fined $130 for forging a note to his employer saying he needed time off from work because he was pregnant, the South African Press Agency reported. Charles Sibindana stole a medical certificate from a health center that was treating his pregnant girlfriend — and was unaware gynecologists only treat women, officials said. Sibindana was advised to not "walk around faking sick letters from gynecologists" anymore. (EXPRESS) EyeOpeners | Page 2

DISAPPEARING

You Have 16 Hours to Read This Page

Xerox said Sunday it has designed a paper that erases the content on it within 24 hours, allowing it to be used as many as 50 times in offices tired of filled recycling bins, the Financial Post reported. The idea, the company said, came from research about office paper use that found up to 40 percent of printed documents are only used once or twice a day and then are thrown away. The company decided there would be a market for "erasable paper," which, when printed on a special printer, fades the text completely between 16 and 24 hours later. The text also can be erased by immediately running the paper through the printer again. (EXPRESS)

It's taken a lot of hard work for this Dutch carver to almost finish this dolphin ice sculpture — which he worked on Tuesday in Luebeck, Germany — and that's not including the big ice beach ball he still has to balance on its nose. The sculpture is one of the frosted works of art that will be exposed during the 4th International Ice and Snow Sculpture Festival, from Dec. 8 to Jan. 28. The first trucks with ice cubes arrived Nov. 13 at the Ice World construction site near the banks of the River Trave. (EXPRESS)

Good Luck Taking My Car When I'm Dead!

A Kemerovo, Russia, man whom police stopped for allegedly driving drunk tried to swallow his keys and then bit an officer as the officer tried to retrieve them. The man, who was stopped Monday night, admitted to police he had ingested a half-liter of grain alcohol. As the police drew up the paperwork to confiscate the car, the man put his keys in his mouth and tried to swallow them. One officer, fearing for the man's life, tried to retrieve the keys but the man bit him; only after donning gloves could the officer remove them. (AP)

Pelosi Skips Hastings for Intel Post

Speaker-to-be nixes bid in move that could disrupt party unity

WASHINGTON | In a decision that could roil Democratic unity in the new House, Speaker-to-be Nancy Pelosi passed over Rep. Alcee Hastings Tuesday for the chairmanship of the Intelligence Committee.

Hastings, currently the No. 2 Democrat on the panel, had been aggressively making a case for the top position, supported by members of the Congressional Black Caucus.

Critics pointed out that he had been impeached when he was a federal judge and said naming him to such a sensitive post would be a mistake just as the Democrats take over House control pledging reforms.

"I am obviously disappointed with this decision," Hastings, D-Fla., said in a statement thanking his supporters. "I will be seeking better and bigger opportunities in a Democratic Congress."

He learned his bid for the chairmanship was unsuccessful during a closed-door meeting with Pelosi on Tuesday.

Hastings

our country well, and I have full confidence that he will continue

In a statement, Pelosi, D-Calif., said Hastings has made national security his highest priority.

"He has served to do so," she said.

In a sign of the bitterness that has surrounded the debate, Hastings closed his statement by saying: "Sorry, haters, God is not finished with me yet."

The Black Caucus had no immediate comment.

A Democratic congressional aide, who spoke on condition of anonymity about internal party deliberations, said Pelosi has not yet decided who will get the position when the new Congress convenes in January. KATHERINE SHRADER (AP)

Arson Not Suspected In Group Home Blaze

Mo. police set to rule out criminal activity in fire that killed 10

ANDERSON, MO. | Investigators expect to rule out arson as the cause of a fire that killed 10 people at a group home for the elderly and mentally ill, a police spokesman said Tuesday.

Sgt. Jason Clark of the Missouri State Highway Patrol said he did not "foresee that something through the night will lead us to believe that this is an arson investigation."

Authorities had previously described Monday's fire as suspicious but did not eliminate the possibility of an accident.

Clark said authorities do not have any suspects or persons of interest in the blaze at Anderson Guest House, but he declined to answer other questions about investigators' findings.

Officials have revealed little about what may have sparked the flames, which originated in an area that included a living room and some bedrooms. They scheduled a news conference for Wednesday.

Coroner B.J. Goodwin said most of the victims had been asleep when the fire broke out. All of them died of smoke inhalation, he said.

8 Charged in Teen's Death

Nurse, former guards accused in pummeling of boy at boot camp

PENSACOLA, FLA. | Seven former guards at a juvenile boot camp were charged with aggravated manslaughter Tuesday in the videotaped pummeling of a 14-year-old boy who later died — a case that led to the dismantling of Florida's military-style detention system for young offenders.

Also charged was a nurse who can be seen on the tape watching as guards repeatedly kned and hit

Martin Lee Anderson, 14, above, died from a 30-minute scuffle in January.

Martin Lee Anderson during a 30-minute scuffle on Jan. 5. Guards said the boy was uncooperative and had refused to participate in exercises.

The teen collapsed in the exercise yard at the camp in Panama City and died at a hospital the next day.

The death sparked protests at the state Capitol and led to a shake-up in Florida's criminal justice system and the resignation of Florida's top law enforcement officer.

If convicted, the former guards and the nurse could get up to 30 years in prison. Bail was set at $25,000 each. Nurse Kristin Anne Schmidt did not show up for an initial appearance Tuesday, and her attorney did not return a phone call. MELISSA NELSON (AP)

Mom Accused of Microwaving Baby

DAYTON, OHIO | A mother was arrested on suspicion of murdering her newborn daughter by microwaving the baby in an oven.

China Arnold, 26, was jailed Monday on a charge of aggravated murder, more than a year after she brought her dead month-old baby to a hospital. Bail was set Tuesday at $1 million.

"We have reason to believe, and we have some forensic evidence that is consistent with our belief, that a microwave oven was used in this death," said Ken Betz, director of the Montgomery County coroner's office.

He said the evidence included high-heat internal injuries and the absence of external burn marks on the baby, Paris Talley. Arnold was arrested soon after the baby's death in August 2005, then was released while authorities investigated further. (AP)

Mayor Visits Man's Family

Bloomberg stands by remarks calling police shooting 'excessive'

NEW YORK | Mayor Michael Bloomberg met Tuesday with the family of the man who was killed on his wedding day in a barrage of police gunfire as he left his bachelor party, and investigators questioned a third civilian witness.

Three days after the fatal encounter, it remained unclear why four detectives and one police officer opened fire while conducting an undercover operation at a strip club. The unidentified witness was on a darkened block in Queens when five police officers killed 23-year-old Sean Bell and injured two friends as the three sat inside a car, officials said.

There are two other civilian witnesses: one woman on the street who says she saw officers firing their weapons, and a second woman who from her window spotted a man running away from the area around the time of the shooting. Investigators are trying to determine whether that man had been with the three who were shot.

On Tuesday, Bloomberg went to the Bell family's Queens church, where he met for about an hour with the parents and fiancée of the victim, along with the Rev. Al Sharpton. The mayor then met at a restaurant with about 50 community leaders.

The mayor held a similar meeting Monday at City Hall in which he declared that officers appeared to use "excessive force" when Bell was killed hours before his wedding. He stood by his comments Tuesday.

"I used the word excessive and that's fine," he said. "That was my personal opinion. It may turn out to be that it was not excessive." (AP)

Studying the Antidepressant Effects of Sleep Deprivation

Sleep deprivation has rapid & brief antidepressant effects in some depressed people. NIMH is exploring how a drug that mimics the effects of sleep deprivation in the brain, may also bring about a rapid antidepressant response in people who are depressed. Understanding how this works may help us understand depression and design better antidepressants. Study includes multiple overnight stays & free sleep evaluations to rule out sleep disorders. NIMH is seeking people ages 18-60 with depression who:

- Are free of other serious medical conditions
- Do not have any sleep disorders

Pope Begins Pivotal Trip to Turkey

Pontiff urges leaders of all faiths to refuse to sanction violence

ANKARA, TURKEY | Pope Benedict XVI urged leaders of all religions Tuesday to "utterly refuse" to support any form of violence in the name of faith, while Turkey's top Muslim cleric complained to the pontiff of growing "Islamophobia" in the world.

As he began his first visit to a Muslim country — a trip that drew extraordinary security but few onlookers — Benedict sought a careful balance as he extended friendship and brotherhood to Muslims, hoping to end the outcry from many Muslims over his remarks linking Islam to violence.

He expressed support for Turkey's efforts to join the European Union, moving away from opposition he voiced when he was a cardinal.

But the German pope also hammered away at key points of his 18-month papacy, telling dip-

He avoided mention of any specific religion, even as he decried terrorism and the "disturbing conflicts across the Middle East."

Benedict also said guarantees of religious freedom are essential for a just society, and the Vatican said he raised specific issues such as property rights of Turkey's tiny Catholic community during talks with Turkish officials.

"The so-called conviction that the sword is used to expand Islam in the world and growing Islamophobia hurts all Muslims," Bardakoglu said.

The comment appeared to be a reference to Benedict's remarks in a speech in September when he quoted a 14th-century Christian emperor who characterized the Prophet Muhammad's teachings as "evil and inhuman, such as his command to spread by thy sword the faith he preached."

Ailing Castro May Be No-Show for Big Birthday Bash

HAVANA | Presidents, former leaders and Nobel laureates have confirmed their attendance at a five-day 80th birthday bash for ailing leader Fidel Castro. But the host himself has not.

When asked if Castro would show up for any of the events, Culture Minister Abel Prieto told reporters Tuesday: "I don't have anything to announce."

With or without Castro, more than 1,300 politicians, artists and intellectuals are determined to pay homage to the man who governed the communist-run island for 47 years before temporarily stepping aside four months ago following intestinal surgery.

Presidents Evo Morales of Bolivia and Rene Preval of Haiti have confirmed their attendance. Also expected are Colombian Nobel laureate Gabriel Garcia Marquez and Nobel Peace Prize winner Adolfo Perez Esquivel, an Argentine human rights activist.

The public has seen Castro only in photos and videos since his July 31 announcement that he was temporarily ceding power to his brother, Defense Minister Raul Castro, while he recovered from surgery for intestinal bleeding. Details of his ailment are state secrets. (AP)

Report: 11 EU Nations Knew of CIA Prisons

U.K., Poland among countries said to know about alleged program

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM | Eleven European Union governments — including Britain, Poland and Germany — knew about secret CIA prisons operating in Europe, a draft European Parliament report concluded Tuesday.

The report presented to the EU assembly's special committee investigating allegations about the detention centers and CIA kidnappings in Europe called on governments to launch their own inquiries to determine whether human rights laws were violated.

It also criticized top EU officials, including foreign policy chief Javier Solana and anti-terror coordinator Gijs de Vries of "omissions and denials" during testimony to the committee.

No EU governments have admitted that the claimed anti-terror operations were carried out on their territory. Governments have been warned by EU officials that if they knew about the CIA renditions and secret flights they could be found in violation of EU law.

While thin on proof to back up the allegations, the committee report claimed it got information from secret documents and information from several sources in the U.S. and from national authorities in the 25-nation bloc.

The report said 11 EU nations — Britain, Poland, Italy, Germany, Sweden, Austria, Ireland, Spain, Portugal, Greece and Cyprus — had knowledge of the alleged U.S. secret anti-terrorism measures taking place on European soil. (AP)

President rejects talk of civil war ahead of al-Maliki meeting

RIGA, LATVIA | Under intense pressure to change course, President Bush on Tuesday rejected suggestions Iraq has fallen into civil war and vowed not to pull U.S. troops out "until the mission is complete."

At the opening of a NATO summit, Bush also urged allies to increase their forces in Afghanistan to confront a strengthening Taliban insurgency.

On the eve of his visit to Jordan for meetings with Iraqi Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki, Bush portrayed the battles in both Afghanistan and Iraq as central fronts in a war "against the extremists who desire safe havens and are willing to kill innocents anywhere to achieve their objectives."

The stakes in Iraq are huge for Bush. His war policies were repudiated in U.S. midterm elections that handed control of Congress to Democrats. A bipartisan blue-ribbon panel is about to issue a report proposing changes in the administration's approach in Iraq.

Bush set the stage for the Jordan talks with a speech at the NATO summit here and at an earlier news conference in neighboring Estonia. The president said he was flexible and eager to hear al-Maliki's ideas on how to ease the violence.

"There's one thing I'm not going to do — I'm not going to pull our troops off the battlefield before the mission is complete," Bush declared in his speech.

Earlier, speaking with reporters in Tallinn during a joint news conference with Estonia's president, Bush would not debate whether Iraq had fallen into civil war and blamed the increasing bloodshed on a pattern of sectarian violence that he said was set in motion last winter by al-Qaeda followers.

"I'm going to bring this subject up, of course, with Prime Minister Maliki," Bush said. "My questions to him will be: What do you need to do to succeed? What is your strategy in dealing with the sectarian violence?"

Bush said he realized that "no question it's dangerous there, and violent. And the Maliki government is going to have to deal with that violence, and we want to help them do so." TOM RAUM (AP)

6 Iraqis Killed Amid Firefight With Insurgents

BAGHDAD, IRAQ | U.S. soldiers fought with suspected insurgents using a building as a safe house in Ramadi on Tuesday, killing one Iraqi man and five females, ranging in age from an infant to teenagers, the U.S. military said.

Ramadi, 70 miles west of Baghdad, has been the scene of some of Iraq's fiercest fighting between U.S. forces and Sunni insurgents. It is the capital of Anbar province, where many Iraqi insurgents are based.

The bloodshed came on a day that saw sectarian violence kill nine other Iraqis and wound about 50, police said. The bodies of 50 torture victims also were discovered, most of them in Baghdad and the city of Baquba to the north, police said.

The Iraqi Parliament voted to extend the country's state of emergency through December, but the U.S. military warned of even worse sectarian violence after last week's attack on Shiites in the capital. (AP)

Research Study Trying to Improve Depressive Symptoms Quickly

Several medications are effective for treating depression; however, they take weeks or months to achieve their full effects. NIMH is studying whether a drug can cause a rapid antidepressant effect in patients with bipolar or unipolar depression. The study also tries to see if it can sustain the results with another medication in certain patients. Understanding how this works may help us understand depression and design better antidepressants. NIMH is seeking people ages 18-65 with depression (unipolar or bipolar) who are:

- Free of other serious medical conditions
- Willing to participate in a minimum of a 12-day inpatient stay

Research medications provided free of charge.

County Cards in Review

Officials to look at the spending of leaders in Prince George's, Md.

UPPER MARLBORO, MD. | The Maryland state prosecutor will investigate the use of county-issued credit cards by county officials to pay for thousands of dollars in personal expenses, including gym memberships, a haircut and prescription drugs.

Prince George's State's Attorney Glenn Ivey requested the state review of spending by some members of the county council and County Executive Jack Johnson.

Ivey spokesman Ramon Kori-onoff said that Ivey asked State Prosecutor Robert Rohrbaugh to review "if there were any laws that were broken." Rohrbaugh said that he received a referral from Ivey's office.

According to a review of credit card bills, Prince George's officials used their county-issued cards for a wide range of personal expenses in an apparent violation of county policy. Officials must sign an agreement stating that the cards are "exclusively for authorized and lawful county business." (AP)

Cigarette Being Blamed for Fire

MOUNT RAINIER, MD. | A discarded cigarette is being blamed for an early morning fire that left nine people homeless Tuesday.

County Fire and Emergency Medical Services personnel were called to the 4100 block of 34th Street around 2 a.m., where they found a two-story wood-framed home fully engulfed in flames.

Fire investigators said the cigarette ignited a sofa on the front porch and other materials. Seven adults and two children were able to escape the burning home. (AP)

Guilty Plea in Md. Bribery Scheme

BALTIMORE | The former president of a contracting firm pleaded guilty Tuesday in a corruption case involving an ex-state senator — a scheme prosecutors say was so lucrative he offered the lawmaker $80,000 a year to postpone retirement.

W. David Stoffregen, 53, who was president of Poole and Kent Co., was charged last year in a 30-count federal indictment, along with ex-state Sen. Thomas Bromwell and his wife, Mary Patricia. He pleaded guilty to racketeering conspiracy, mail fraud and filing a false tax return.

Stoffregen, of Towson, admitted to providing benefits to Bromwell in exchange for the then-senator's influence to help Poole and Kent.

Stoffregen is the sixth person to plead guilty in the case.

Under a plea deal requiring his cooperation, Stoffregen would face at least six years in prison under federal sentencing guidelines. (AP)

O'Malley Obtained $500,000 Loan

ANNAPOLIS, MD. | Gov.-elect Martin O'Malley spent about $1.8 million in the closing days of the gubernatorial campaign, part of it financed with a $500,000 loan from Joseph Coale, a retired lawyer who has been active in Democratic Party affairs.

"The campaign made a strategic decision ... that we needed additional funds," Rick Abbruzzese, a spokesman for O'Malley, said Tuesday. "The governor-elect borrowed it from a friend. It is money that must now be repaid in the coming year."

Abbruzzese said the Baltimore mayor raised about $14.4 million during the four-year election cycle from 2003 through 2006 when he was running first for mayor and then for governor.

Republican Gov. Robert Ehrlich and his running mate, Kristen Cox, raised about $17.9 million during that same period, a spokesman for the campaign said. (AP)

Housing Control Supported

Va. Gov. Kaine says governments need to prevent future traffic

WASHINGTON | Gov. Kaine said Tuesday that local governments should have more tools to control and reject future development.

"You certainly can't solve this transportation issue without dealing in a fundamental way with accountability and land use," Kaine said.

Transportation is expected to be a major issue when the General Assembly convenes in January. Among the initiatives that lawmakers are expected to consider is a plan to allow local governments to reject developers' rezoning requests when existing roads are not able to serve traffic generated by new homes.

"We'll have to deal with these growth challenges," Kaine said. "We just have to deal with them in a much more intentional and thoughtful way than we have in the past."

Kaine withheld judgment on a measure considered by Prince William County supervisors to freeze new housing construction for a year in response to northern Virginia's worsening traffic congestion. (AP)

Economy Shows Signs of Slowing

Consumer confidence, home prices, durable goods orders all drop

NEW YORK | Three pillars of the economy — consumer confidence, orders for manufactured goods and home prices — showed surprising cracks on Tuesday, flashing signals that growth may slow more heading into the holiday shopping season.

The New York-based Conference Board said its widely watched consumer confidence index fell to 102.9 in November from a revised reading of 105.1 in October. November's figure was the lowest since August's 100.2 and well below economists' expectations of a 106 reading.

That news arrived on the heels of a government report on durable goods that showed orders for big-ticket manufactured goods plunged 8.3 percent in October — the largest drop in more than six years.

And the median price of a home dropped to $221,000 in October, a decline of 3.5 percent from a year ago, according to the National Association of Realtors. It was the biggest year-over-year price decline on record.

The reports drew some air out of any inflated hopes for a robust holiday shopping season. Economists still believe it will be a decent season, however, because of lower gasoline prices, which have put more money in consumers' pockets. (AP)

Ravens' Expectations on the Rise

With the division title nearly secure, team turns to loftier goals

RAVENS | The Baltimore Ravens can clinch the AFC North title with a win in Cincinnati on Thursday night, no small accomplishment for a team that last year finished third with a 6-10 record.

Three months ago, the Ravens would have been perfectly satisfied with earning the second division crown in franchise history. They would have boasted loudly about blanking the defending Super Bowl champions.

Now, they ask: What else can we do?

After dismissing the defending champion Pittsburgh Steelers under a barrage of nine sacks in a 27-0 victory Sunday, the Ravens (9-2) didn't revel in humbling a bitter rival. Not long after the game ended, they were already looking ahead.

"We're just trying to get all the wins we can so we can have everything rolling for us in the playoffs," said linebacker Terrell Suggs, who had six tackles and two sacks. "It was good knocking them out, but that's a small victory alongside another."

The Ravens defense sacked Pittsburgh quarterback Ben Roethlisberger nine times last week in a shutout of the Steelers.

The Steelers (4-7) are no longer a threat to Baltimore, and Cincinnati (6-5) has only a mathematical chance of retaining its division title.

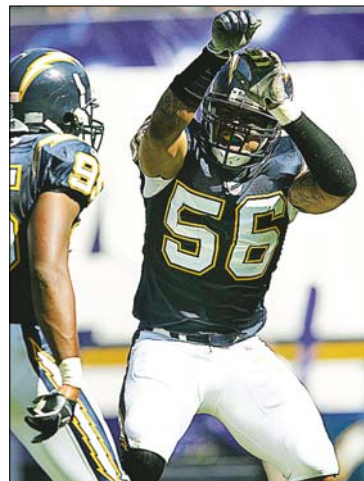

That would ensure the Ravens of their first trip to the playoffs since 2003. Nice, but not good enough.

"We're not going to limit ourselves to just winning the division because if you do that, you set yourself up to lose in the playoffs," wide receiver Derrick Mason said. "We have bigger aspirations and bigger goals than just winning the division."

Such as a first-round bye and home-field advantage in the conference playoffs. Or, maybe, winning the Super Bowl.

"That way, each and every week, we get better as a team," Mason said. "We know where we want to get to."

LB Shawne Merriman was suspended four games for a positive steroid test.

Merriman Eager to See Action

Star linebacker returns to the field this week following a suspension

FOOTBALL | The lights flickered back on for Shawne Merriman, who returned to the San Diego Chargers from his four-game steroid suspension on Monday, flashing a funky haircut and eager to resume pounding on quarterbacks.

Merriman's first game back will be at Buffalo on Sunday, when the AFC West-leading Chargers (9-2) will try to extend their winning streak to six.

"I think I'll be a little bit anxious waiting for Sunday to get here, but Sunday I'll be fine, just getting out there, flying around, knocking some heads," the 2005 Defensive Rookie of the Year and Pro Bowler said.

With plenty of time on his hands, Merriman had his nickname, "Lights Out," carved into his hair. He was tied for the NFL lead with 8 1/2 sacks when his suspension began on Nov. 1. He's now tied with six other players for the fifth-highest total.

Merriman has denied he's a steroid cheat, saying the positive test stemmed from a tainted supplement. He has refused to identify the supplement because his attorney has threatened a lawsuit against the manufacturer. BERNIE WILSON (AP)

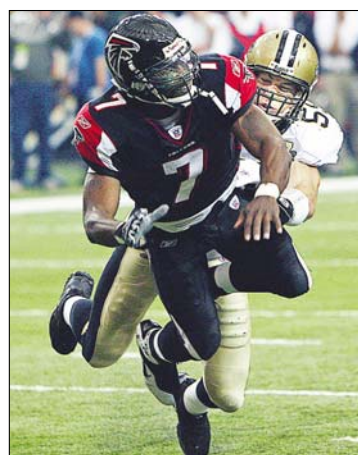

Falcons Could Be in for Big Changes

Owner isn't happy with the underachieving squad not producing

FOOTBALL | After watching the Atlanta Falcons lose their fourth straight game, owner Arthur Blank grabbed a front-row seat in the interview room to listen in on what Jim Mora and Michael Vick had to say.

Blank also pored over a stat sheet, whispering some thoughts to his top lieutenant while trying to figure out how another season that began with such promise has totally unraveled heading into the final month.

This owner demands immediate results. If things don't turn around

Michael Vick is the leader of a Falcons team that is disappointing yet again.

over the next five weeks, the Falcons are certainly headed for big changes — starting with several members of Mora's staff and maybe extending all the way to the head coach himself.

"Ever since I've been here, we've had high expectations," Blank said. "We did not build this team to be .500. We thought this team was capable of making a playoff run. Anytime you fall short of that, it's disappointing."

Technically, Atlanta (5-6) still has time to turn things around in the mediocre NFC, where 6-5 would be good enough for the wild card if the season ended today.

But after going 0-for-November, the Falcons are below .500 for the first time in Mora's three-year tenure and giving off few signs of being a team that can pull out of its slide before it's too late. (AP)

O's Make 2 More Moves to Bolster Weak Bullpen

ORIOLES | Adding another pair of relievers, the Baltimore Orioles reached preliminary agreements on a $10.5 million, three-year contract with Chad Bradford and a $900,000, one-year deal with Scott Williamson.

Williamson, 30, was 2-4 with a 5.72 ERA this year for the San Diego Padres and the Chicago Cubs. He was NL Rookie of the Year in 1999 with Cincinnati, going 12-7 with 107 strikeouts, a 2.41 ERA and 19 saves.

Bradford, a 32-year-old sidearm thrower, was 4-2 with a 2.90 ERA this year with the New York Mets.

Redskins Bring in Another Kicker

Suisham will compete with Novak for the starting job this week

REDSKINS | When his 37-yard field-goal attempt missed the uprights Sunday afternoon, Nick Novak knew to expect the worst this week.

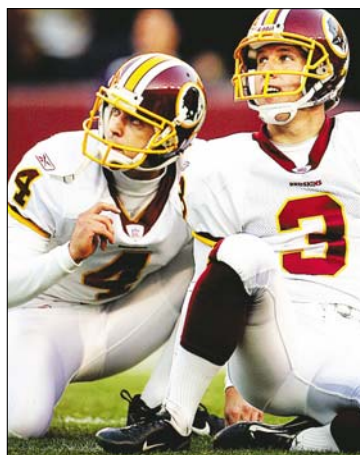

The young kicker, who has struggled with accuracy on field goals and distance on kickoffs, figured he'd have competition for his job this week, and it came on Tuesday with the arrival of Shaun Suisham at Redskins Park.

Suisham, 24, was signed to the practice squad after visiting with team officials and will be in uniform for practice today along with Novak, 25. The Redskins could opt to have Suisham handle only kick-offs on game day and dress both kickers, or they could release one this week.

The team did not make a waiver claim for Mike Vanderjagt, according to team sources, and do not intend to pursue the kicker who the Dallas Cowboys cut Monday.

Novak, who went to high school in Charlottesville and starred at Maryland, has connected on just 5-of-10 kicks and is 3-for-6 from 40 yards or beyond.

"Obviously, I brought this on myself," Novak said. "Now I have to go out and take care of business."

Novak has missed at least one kick in four of the last five games, but had hoped to stake a claim to the kicker spot in his second straight season with Washington.

"The things we like about him is he hits the ball up high," Gibbs said, "and whenever we've had him work out here, he's been consistent in what he's done. But it's a fact — you make this many or you miss this many." JASON LA CANFORA (THE WASHINGTON POST)

Improbable Title for Wake

Demon Deacons keep surprising everyone, are playing for the ACC

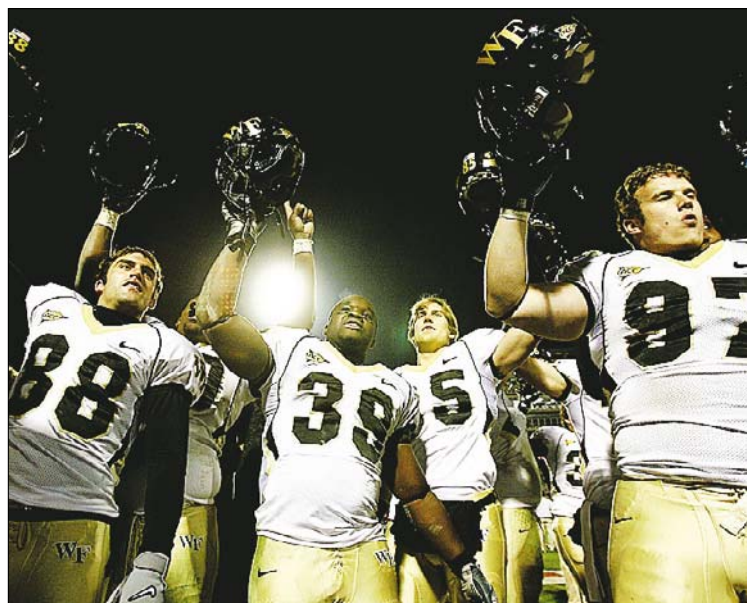

COLLEGE FOOTBALL | Wake Forest kept winning and coming up with more reasons to celebrate: a school-record 10 wins, an improbable conference division title, Tobacco Road supremacy.

But the 16th-ranked Demon Deacons don't have time to party yet. With their first league championship since 1970 and a spot in the Orange Bowl on the line in Saturday's Atlantic Coast Conference title game against No. 23 Georgia Tech, the stakes remain huge.

"It's something that probably will happen once in a lifetime, so you definitely have to live up the moment," running back Kenneth Moore said Tuesday. "But you definitely have to get ready for next week and not get on too high a pedestal."

That Wake Forest has maintained focus throughout its run is remarkable. The Demon Deacons have performed at a consistently high level for most of the season, with their only blips coming in the fourth quarter of the Clemson loss and in their loss to Virginia Tech.

Of course, Wake Forest won't

Wake Forest players celebrate their win over Maryland last week. The victory gave Wake Forest a chance to play for the ACC title this Saturday against Georgia Tech.

IN EVERYBODY'S WAKE
The Demon Deacons (10-2, 6-2) have kept winning despite what some of the stats might suggest:

- Their defense is 42nd out of 117 teams in yards allowed per game (315.5).
- With 312.3 yards per game, the offense ranks 98th in the nation.
- Wake Forest scores just 23.3 points per game (67th in the country), but it allows just 15.4 per game (15th).

play a bigger game than this one — unless the Demon Deacons win and advance to the Orange Bowl.

"You think one game is huge, and you want to sit down and soak it all in," quarterback Riley Skinner said. "But you realize you've got an even bigger one next week, so there's no time to sit around and let it sink in. ... You've got to keep going through every week, planning for the next game. After the season's over, it'll be time to let it all sink in." (AP)

Oct. 14 on a touchdown run against Iowa State.

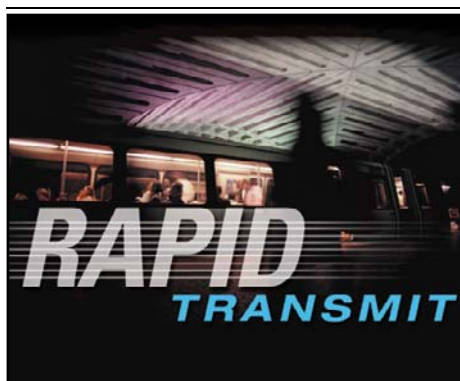

"Adrian is not going to play," Sooners coach Bob Stoops said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "Without being too technical, he's close. He could be cleared to play, but each week that passes the likelihood of it reoccurring is less and less."

Peterson, the nation's No. 2 rusher at the time of his injury, initially was expected to miss six weeks.

Oklahoma (10-2, 7-1 Big 12) has won all six of its games without Peterson, who could still play for the Sooners in their bowl game.

Hard to Find Wins In the Easy East

Just 3 teams are above .500 in basketball's weaker conference

BASKETBALL | Knicks coach Isiah Thomas recently sat down for his pregame remarks to the media and was asked one of the easiest questions he's faced in a long time.

What was it like to be a game out of first place? Welcome to life in the Eastern Conference, where even a coach fighting to save his job can dream big.

Then again, that says more about the East than it does about the job Thomas' Knicks are doing. Only three teams came out of the Thanksgiving holiday weekend with a winning record, and expected title contenders Miami, Chicago and New Jersey weren't among them.

Even the teams with good records have them only because they've had a heavy diet of games at home, or against other East teams. Orlando, the East's best at 11-4, and Cleveland are both 7-1 at home, while the Pistons — tied with the Cavs at 9-5 — are 6-1 against conference foes to help them recover from a terrible trip out West. (AP)

ENDING IT ALL: Geoff Upex has worked for Land Rover for 23 years as creator of the Range Rover line. He gave up the job in August and said this week that, after his Dec. 25 retirement, he'll never design a car for any automaker ever again.

Cars

Eos: Sack-Resistant

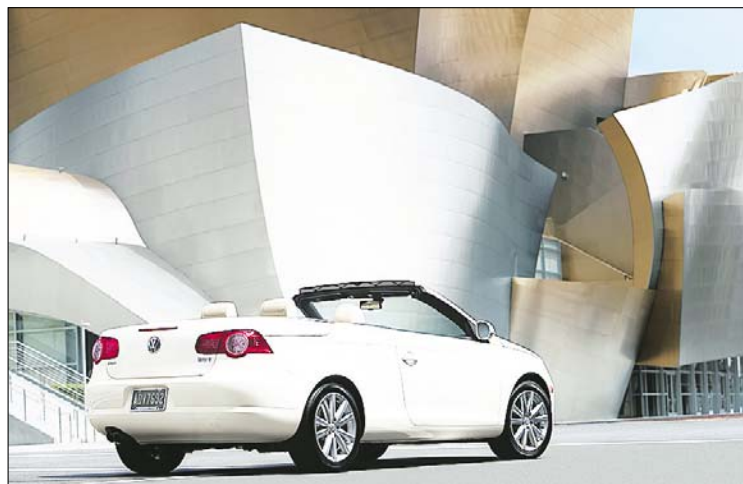

Retractable hard top guards your car from barbarian invasions

ROAD TEST | The Volkswagen Eos owes its name to the Greeks — Eos was the Titan goddess of the dawn, so the antiquarians at VW inform us — but owes its existence to the Vandals. In the fifth century, these indifferently groomed Germanic tribesmen raped and pillaged their way across Europe, stealing car stereos as they went.

The Vandals finally, famously sacked Rome in 455. Since then, Vandals have been synonymous with wanton destruction — unless you're a University of Idaho fan, in which case they're synonymous with mediocre Division I football.

Modern convertible tops can do many things: keep out the cold, the wet, the wild whistle of 100 mph. They're routinely fitted with heated glass backlights. They're tighter than Britney's pre-nup. But they can't repel the dullest dime-store knife or hobby-shop razor. All it takes is five seconds and — ZCHITTTT — some malicious, tweaked-to-the-nines mental defective is performing a laparotomy on your ride.

Thus the salient advantage of the proliferating class of retractable hardtops: security. Though it's certainly possible to violate the sanctity of a retractable hardtop with, say,

The Eos' look is as slick and arty as the structure behind it — including those bendy curves with the top up — and just as grounded, even when you put the top down.

a brick through the window, such ingress requires more commitment and makes a lot more noise.

Four-seat retractables are everywhere. The cars are all over the map — big, small, expensive, cheap. The only commonality is that they all have two doors. And now we have the Eos, a stand-alone model in VW's lineup. In broad strokes, the Eos is a four-seat, front-drive compact cabriolet; there's a "TBD" in the VW press kit beside "top speed." Perhaps you can help them with that.

The Eos' claim to plain-air fame is its novel top. A tilt-and-slide tinted-glass sunroof is incorporated into the five-panel mechanism, which VW's cryptologists have dubbed a "CSC" for "coupe-sunroof-convertible" top.

NUTS & BOLTS

→ THE 2007 VW EOS 3.2L

$37,480

Powertrain: 3.2-liter, DOHC, 24-valve, narrow-angle V6 with variable-valve timing; front-wheel drive | Wheelbase: 101.5 inches | Measurements: 173.5 inches long, 3,686 pounds | Horsepower: 250 at 6,300 rpm | Torque: 235 pound-feet at 2,500-3,000 rpm | 0-60 mph: seven seconds.

That's awfully cute. The sunroof also offers an extremely effective pop-up deflector that dramatically cuts wind noise at supra-highway speeds.

The roof's movements are precise and fluid, the pieces shuffling quietly and silkily into place. That's reassuring. Some retractable roofs on the market move as if they are lubricated with ketamine.

In top-up repose, the Eos is an unremarkably attractive car. Top-down, the Eos is one awesome-looking transvestite. The Eos doesn't suffer strange, lazy dimension between the door and the rear wheel well. The Eos is bandy, wedgy and well-balanced, with crisp lateral tensors along the shoulder line and rocker panel and a hood that pours into the mirrored grille surround.

The overwhelming sensation of the Eos is that it's approximately twice the car it ought to be for the money. For an open-top car, it has this deep, fundamental stoutness — no cowl shake, no chassis frisson when the car hits rough patches, no twitters anywhere. The Sport package includes 18-inch wheels, a stiffer suspension, brushed alloy interior trim and French-stitched Napa leather seats. Options include road-following bi-xenon headlights, DVD navigation and a whopping audio package that would drown out the howling of the damned.

Despite all the roof hardware abaft of the cockpit, there's still a ski pass-through feature in the back seat. Very nice. DAN NEIL (THE LOS ANGELES TIMES)

CAR CARE

My car has started "chirping." It sounds rather like a small bird is traveling with me at slow speeds or when I'm reducing speed. The shop reported that they bounced on the car a little bit, nothing seemed loose, and they couldn't make it chirp, so it should be fine. Is this something to worry about?

OK, let me get this straight: Your shop's response was 'I don't know what it is, I couldn't make it do it, I've never heard it, but it should be fine'? How do you know anything can be fine when you don't know what it is? You need a more thorough examination.

My otherwise trusty 1991 Honda Civic sedan has intermittently refused to start. It usually does finally start after several tries during a 20-minute period. I took it to my trusted mechanic, who was unable to determine the cause without running up a sizeable bill and told me to just keep driving it. But yesterday I got stuck. Any ideas?

Ahhh, another no-start Honda. Check the main relay. You may find it necessary to have the repair shop use a heat gun to heat the relay to make it react.

A Paradise City

Life's a beach when taking a vacation in Belize's Ambergris Cay

GETAWAY | "Wanna pet the shark?" The offer comes from a 21-year-old snorkel guide named Tony, who is bearing sardines. Two beige nurse sharks piggyback one another at our port side, almost begging as smaller fish pick off the chum before it even hits the water.

But I've owned cats more likely to tear into flesh than the four-foot nurse sharks at Hol Chan Marine Reserve. A protected three-square-mile area off Ambergris Cay, Hol Chan abounds with sharks, fish and stingrays. They feel the thrum of an approaching boat, swim over when the engine stops, partake of the buffet, and then chill out at the bottom of the Caribbean until summoned by another outboard dinner bell.

Throw in a hammock and a rum-based cocktail of your choice, and that's also pretty much what life is like for humans at Belize's top vacation destination.

"Welcome to paradise!" the baggage handler hails as I unfold from the 13-seat plane that has brought us from the mainland to San Pedro, the island's only town.

The next afternoon, Tony takes me out to Hol Chan. Six or seven other vessels are already there — a number that can easily quadruple during high season (December to May). For an amateur, the real-life "Finding Nemo" oceanscape is dazzling: blue tangs and parrot fish; silvery, thin barracudas; and flat flounder. Moray eels and a little octopus are hidden in the coral but are spotted easily by Tony. "I come here every day," he shrugs.

From pools to Ambergris Cay's beautiful beaches, there are plenty of reasons to stay near the water when vacationing in Belize. You might even get to pet a shark.

Wednesday evenings at San Pedro's beachfront bar scene mean one thing: the chance to watch a chicken do its business. If your ticket matches the numbered square the poultry performer poops on, you win $100.

The World-Famous Chicken Drop has gone down at the Spindrift Hotel's Pier Lounge every Wednesday at 6 p.m. for 18 years. You pay 50¢ for a number picked from a jar, toss back a few happy hour drinks, and gather around an outdoor pen to see how fast fresh coconut and half-cooked bacon travel through the animal's system. "That'd make anybody crap," promises Pier Lounge owner Jan Brown.

"How many of you went diving today?" Brown asks the crowd. "Anybody see a ruin?" "Anybody see a pool?" retorts Jason, a member of our group. "Anybody see some horseshoes? I saw the bottom of a bottle."

Indeed, you'll probably spend a lot of time just staring at the Caribbean, Belikin beer in hand. Might be at a bar, might be at a restaurant, might be at a resort — and not necessarily the one you're staying at. Most beaches are small, and the tepid water is thick with sea grass. The entire shore of Ambergris is public, which makes it easy to hop from bar to beach to resort.

Have You Ever Had A Panic Attack?

- Felt as if you were short of breath?
- Felt your heart starting to pound for no reason?
- Felt afraid you might die?
- Started to shake or sweat without warning?

If you were afraid of another attack occurring and these came out of the blue, you may have had in the past, or currently suffer, from an anxiety disorder called Panic Disorder. NIMH is seeking volunteers 18-55 years old, who are not taking any psychiatric medications, to participate in a brain imaging research study, and/or a physiological and genetic research study. The research is trying to better understand the biological systems of Panic Disorder.

Ours is the only African-American employee organization at the Library of Congress that has meaningfully fought racial discrimination. Your gift is needed, please help us.

The Howard R.L. Cook and Tommy Shaw Foundation for Black Employees of The Library, Inc. (HCTSF) was established by the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The Court established the Foundation because of a class action lawsuit brought against the Library of Congress in 1975 for practicing racial discrimination against African-American employees. Your support is needed.

'American Terror' Plot

'Sleeper Cell' returns to Showtime with anxiety-filled drama

TV | On a hot afternoon, amid a crowd streaming into a concert, two men struggle with an ice chest. It could be an innocent tug of war over who gets first dibs on the drinks, but it isn't.

One of the men is an undercover FBI agent; the other a terrorist. The ice chest contains explosives. And the scene is unsettlingly real.

The cast and crew of "Sleeper Cell: American Terror" were at the Starlight Bowl in Burbank, filming the seventh hour of the eight-part limited series, which airs Dec. 10-17 on Showtime.

Last December, when the first edition of "Sleeper Cell" wrapped, the executive producers didn't know for sure whether a second season would be ordered, and they didn't want to settle for a teaser cliff-hanger. So the season ended with major tragedy averted by the actions of FBI agent Darwyn Al-Sayeed (Michael Ealy) and the arrest of cell leader Faris al-Farik (Oded Fehr).

With Faris in custody and two of the original cell members killed, the creators had problems to solve.

"What is interesting about the new season, and I think really cool

SCARY 'CELL': Actor Oded Fehr plays terrorist leader Faris al-Farik in Showtime's intense drama "Sleeper Cell: American Terror," now in its second season.

from a viewer's perspective, though very challenging for us as executive producers, is we pick up pretty much exactly where we left off, which means that we follow totally separate plot lines," said co-executive producer Ethan Reiff.

There are essentially three plot strands: Darwyn, a black American of Muslim faith, penetrating a new sleeper cell; Arab extremist Faris, who's in custody while being interrogated by the CIA; and Bosnian terrorist Ilija Korjenic (Henri Lubatti), formerly Faris' right-hand man, who's on the run.

New cell members include Mina (Thekla Reuten), a Dutch woman who has converted to Islam; Benny Velazquez (Kevin Alejandro), a gang member converted in prison; and Salim (Omid Abtahi), an Anglo-Iraqi confused about his cultural and sexual identities. The producers say the multicultural nature of the terrorists reflects reality.

Reiff also emphasizes that the show is as much about character as action. "This is much more about who these people are and how they are going about day to day, whether as terrorists or FBI agents. And then we just have splashes when some kind of disturbing violence blows on the scene, and I think that makes it more scary, because, in a way it's more realistic." BRIDGET BYRNE (AP)

ZOMBI Monster Soundtracks

1 Zombi is a drums-and-keyboards duo who do heavy space music that is just crying out to be a horror film soundtrack. The band's 2006 CD, "Surface to Air," came out on Relapse, a label known for first-rate death metal, but Zombi evokes something closer (though eviler) to '70s synth-rock proggers Tangerine Dream and Yes (think "Tales of Topographic Oceans" gone splatter flick).

you think of his flicks as actual moving pictures, then it's easy to get lost in his movies' stunningly designed visuals. Barney's latest work, "Drawing Restraint 9," stars the filmmaker and his wife, Björk.

Bambú Station pulls its roots-reggae train into Strathmore

MUSIC | Bambú Station's roots are in the Virgin Islands, and its music's heart is from Jamaica, but bandleader Jalani Horton is a longtime D.C. resident. He moved here from St. Thomas to attend Howard University, where he earned a political science degree. After he graduated, Horton discovered his musical talents. "I was writing poetry, and a friend of mine invited me to his home studio in 1995, and that evolved into me writing songs, not just poems," he said.

Horton's group is now in its 10th year of making roots reggae with a social conscious, strongly influenced by Steel Pulse and the Wailers.

Bambú Station's new CD is "Break the Soil," and Horton and Co. made their own breakthroughs recently. In 2005, Horton left his family-mediation job at the D.C.

The Top Cat Is Back

The former folkie Cat Stevens returns to music as Yusuf

MUSIC | November sees the return to the world stage of the artist known internationally as Cat Stevens, more than a quarter-century after his last commercial recording.

The release of Yusuf's album "An Other Cup" marks the latest stage in the musical and spiritual journey of the British singer/songwriter, born Steven Georgiou some 59 years ago.

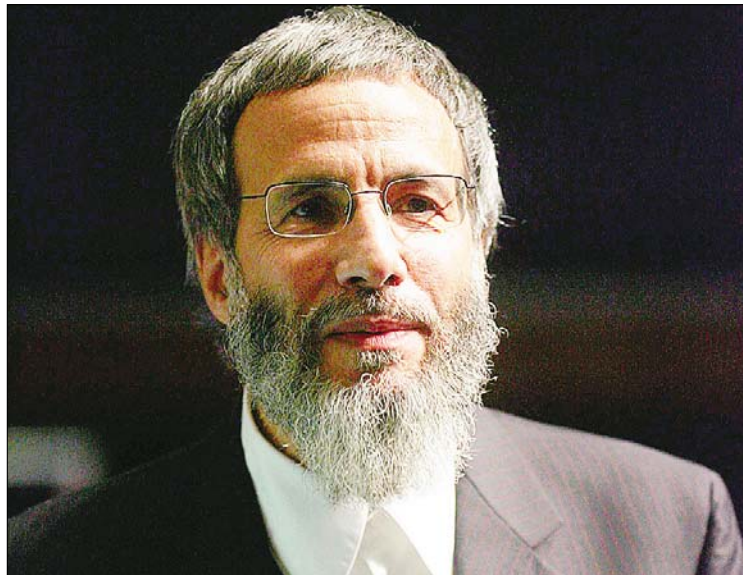

As Cat Stevens, he enjoyed his first success in the 1960s. In the 1970s, albums such as "Tea for the Tillerman" went on to sell millions internationally. But in 1978 he became a Muslim, changing his name to Yusuf Islam, selling his guitar and giving up music.

With "An Other Cup," the singer's gentle voice remains reassuringly familiar, and his melodic gifts and lyrical insights are undimmed.

Did you ever think you would make a record again?

I never really planned it, but ["Cup" co-producer] Rick Nowells set me going. I'd done a live thing for [Nelson] Mandela's AIDS charity in South Africa, so he knew I was moving towards musical expression again. We met and ended up in a studio and I pulled out an old song and it felt so good — my voice was still there.

Why is the record being released under the single name Yusuf?

Because "Islam" doesn't have to be sloganized. The second name is like the official tag, but you call a friend by their first name. It's more intimate, and, to me, that's the message of this record.

How long was it since you had played a guitar?

Many years. I was never convinced that the Koran prohibited music, but I abstained from musical instruments to keep my balance and avoid any conflict. I'd got rid of them all.

In retrospect, do you regret the long years away from music?

No way, because I had to get a life and get off my high horse and join the human race. When you're in that privileged position of being rich and famous, you can lose touch with reality. NIGEL WILLIAMSON (BILLBOARD)

Doctors at the National Institutes of Health are conducting a research study (#06-I-0235) to test the avian influenza vaccine and to develop an antibody-based treatment for avian flu.

AS PART OF THE STUDY

- Volunteers will receive up to 4 doses (one or two injections) of an investigational vaccine against avian influenza into the muscle one month apart
- Volunteers must be willing to donate plasma by plasmapheresis (a standard type of blood donation performed in the blood bank)
- Volunteers will be compensated

Television

A TOTAL D: Comedian Kathy Griffin revels in her lack-of-celebrity status, which she highlighted on Bravo's "Kathy Griffin: My Life on the D-List." Not content to let her sad career go away quietly, Bravo has renewed the reality series, which will return in 2007.

'A Tribute to James Taylor' rockabyes the soft-rock superstar

MUSIC | Artists from every musical genre, two Oscar-winning actors and a former U.S. president show up for “A Tribute to James Taylor” on “Great Performances” (9 p.m., PBS). Taped at the Los Angeles Convention Center, Taylor sums up the laudatory and valedictory tone of the proceedings with the quip, “It’s strange to be at an event like this and still be alive.”

The lineup is nothing if not diverse. Bruce Springsteen performs Taylor's song "Millworker." India.Arie performs "Secret O' Life," and the Dixie Chicks perform "Shower the People." Taylor's folk-rock contemporaries Jackson Browne and David Crosby collaborate with Sheryl Crow on "Mexico." Sting offers "You Can Close Your Eyes," and Keith Urban interprets "Country Road." Bonnie Raitt, Jimmy Buffett, Dr. John and Taj Mahal also perform.

Taylor doesn't just sit there and soak up the applause. He closes the show with four performances. Carole King joins him to sing her song "You've Got a Friend." Then Taylor performs solo on "Shed a Little Light," "How Sweet It Is" and his breakthrough hit and signature tune "Fire and Rain." KEVIN MCDONOUGH

ON TV TONIGHT

LIGHT 'EM UP

CHRISTMAS IN ROCKEFELLER CENTER (8 p.m., NBC) The usual bunch of people-pleasing chatty heads and quasi-celebs show up at this annual musical tree-lighting ceremony.

CASA DE LOPEZ

Why anyone would want Mario Lopez's furniture and décor — which we imagining depends heavily on animal prints — is beyond us, but MY CELEBRITY HOME (9 p.m., Style) takes a peek at his posh pad and then tells viewers how they can affordably snatch his style.

FOOD FIGHT

Catch up with the spatula-wielding misfits of TOP CHEF (8-11 p.m.) as Bravo replays a marathon of toque-to-toque nail-biters.

CARINBAER/BRAVO

COOKING WITH GAS: “Top Chefs” fight it out with butter knives and lemon zest.

HAUNTED 'BONES'

BONES (8 p.m., Fox) Strange things dangling from leafless trees, a dead student and a creepy wooded crime scene add up to Blair Witchy shenanigans for Brennan and Booth.

A new Web site reveals the goods made by prisoners

Internet shopping knows no boundaries, not even for products made behind bars.

Maryland Correctional Enterprises, the manufacturing division of the state Division of Correction, has put its 182-page catalog online. Now anyone can see, if not buy, hundreds of items the agency offers for sale to government agencies and Maryland nonprofit organizations. The catalog is at <http://www.dpscs.state.md.us/mcem>.

The products include institutional clothing, bedding, clocks, signs — and lots of furniture. Nearly half the pages are filled with furniture, including the Slammer table, designed for correctional environments and named “because they put ‘em in the slammer,” said Jeff Beeson, executive director of Maryland Correctional Enterprises’ board of directors.

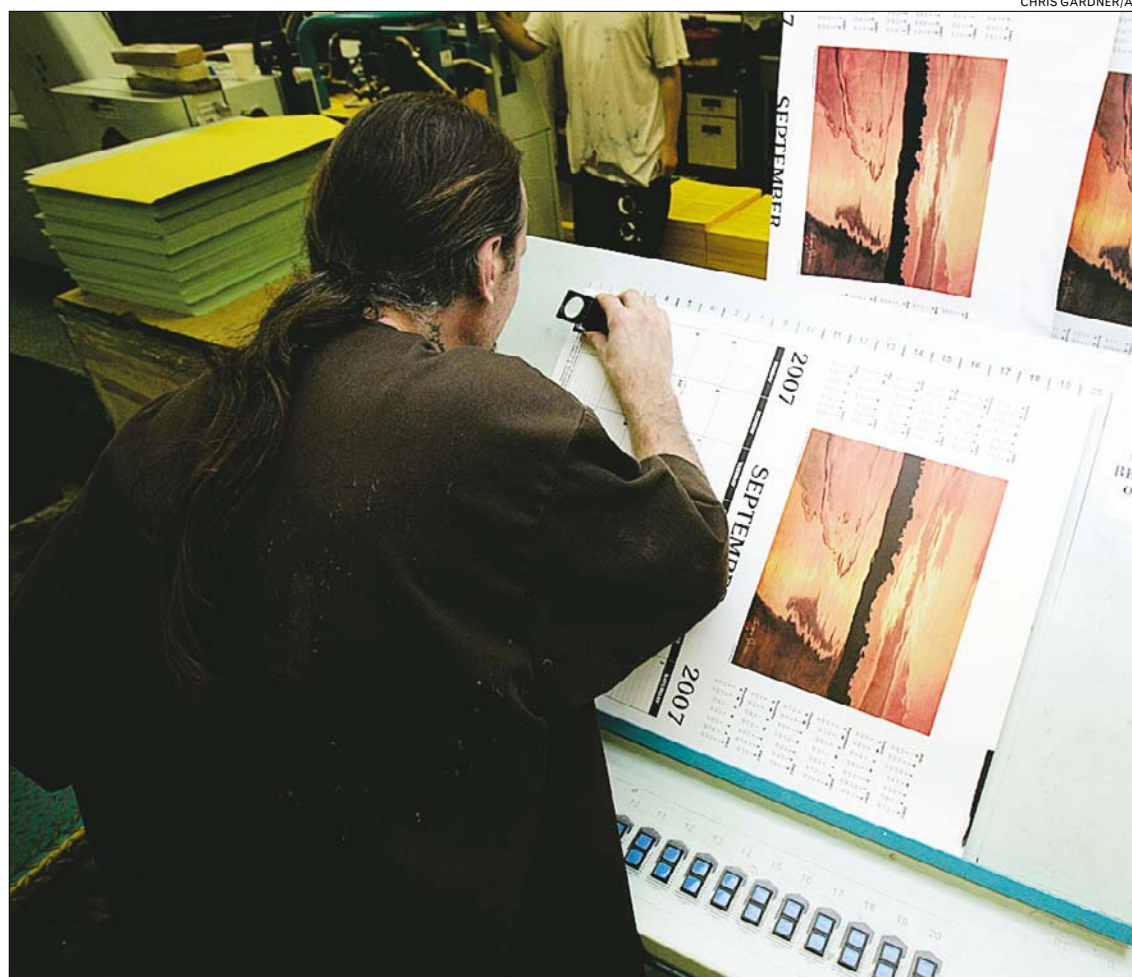

Topping the furniture offerings is the Traditional Veneer Line, with prices up to $1,885 for a U-shaped desk.

There’s pure Maryland pride in the Canton Collection. It features nearly three dozen pieces made from scratch — unlike some of the other lines that are merely assembled at the prisons. The pieces are designed by furniture plant manager Rusty Hyatt, who lives in — where else? — Canton.

The list of seating options reads like a Maryland geography lesson: Silver Spring, Chesapeake, Potomac, New Windsor, Frederick, Bel Air, Crisfield, Monkton, Hampstead, Ellicott, Allegany and Woodbine.

“We’re proud to be Maryland. We’re proud to be the prison industry for Maryland,” Beeson said.

He said MCE employs about

Let's Buy From Prison

1,600 inmates at nine prisons and in warehouse, delivery and photocopying jobs outside prison walls. They are paid a base rate of $1.10 to $2.60 a day, Beeson said.

The agency sold $42.8 million worth of goods last year, making it 10th among prison industries in sales in the United States.

Beeson said inmates who work in the plants tend to re-offend and return to prison at about half the rate of those who don't. Inmates must have a high school diploma or GED to work for the agency, which can help with their schooling.

“We truly believe we’re doing something good here,” Beeson said.

Private furniture makers aren't

“We would like to see open and fair competition where the industry can compete on an equal footing.”

MICHAEL OCHS, ON PRISON INDUSTRY

as keen on prison industries. The Independent Office Products and Furniture Dealers Association, based in Arlington, Va., supports a bill passed in September by the U.S. House of Representatives that would require Federal Prison Industries Inc. to compete on a more even footing with the private sector for federal contracts. A 2004 law ended its monopoly on supplying office furniture and other items to federal agencies, but left it with some advantages, said Michael Ochs, the trade group's director of government affairs.

He said the association has concentrated on the federal level, not the state level. But Ochs said state prison industries — and every state has such an agency — also cut into private industry sales.

“We would like to see open and fair competition where the industry can compete on an equal footing,” Ochs said.

Maryland law requires state agencies to buy from Maryland

Correctional Enterprises any goods or services it can provide at prices at or below the prevailing average market price.

Beeson said Maryland Correctional Enterprises tries to limit its negative economic impact on the private sector by producing things not made by Maryland companies.

“Every year we study it, and for the whole state of Maryland, we constitute less than 3 percent of anyone's business in any one category,” he said.

One category in which the agency has no competition is license plates. It makes every tag sold in Maryland, accounting for $3.8 million in sales. DAVID DISHNEAU (AP)

Rest Stop of the Weird

Travel

South of the Border draws weary drivers and family reunions

What's kitschy, glitzy and promoted by 175 giant billboards for hundreds of miles along Interstate 95?

The answer is South of the Border, in Dillon, S.C., a 350-acre roadside attraction with shops, restaurants and some really odd concrete statues, including a collection of iconic Pedros, a cartoon mascot with a Mexican theme.

It's highway Americana at its best, and if you're driving I-95, you can't miss it. But just to make sure, the billboards appear from the Virginia-North Carolina border to the South Carolina-Georgia border.

That's fewer than in the past, when 250 signs ran from Philadelphia to Daytona, Fla.

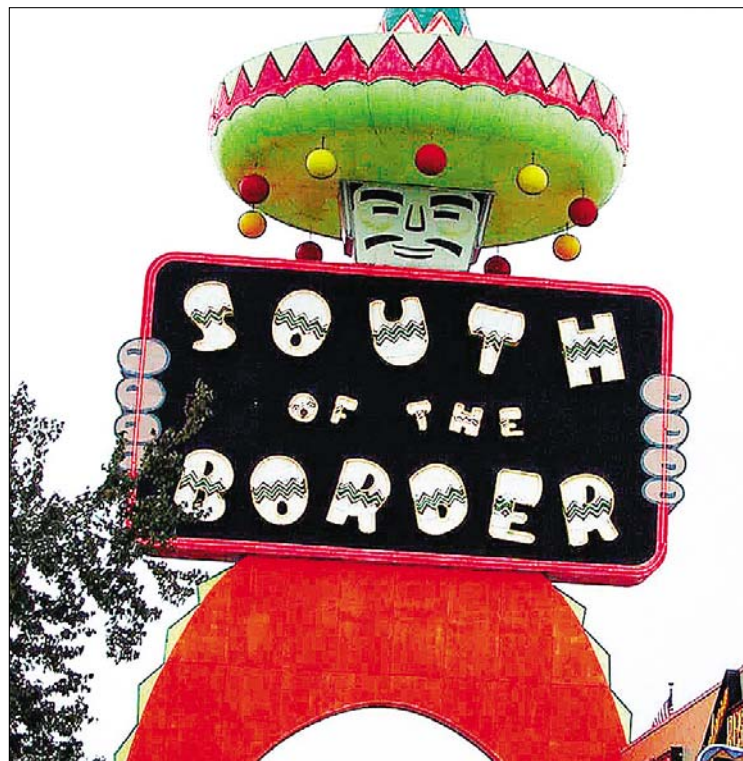

Times have also changed the nature of the signs. They've become more politically correct by eliminating most of the exaggerated Spanish and broken English puns.

These days, South of the Border is a $40 million dollar enterprise with nearly 20 shops, eateries, a motel, fireworks and more.

South of the Border has a history as colorful as its lights at night. It actually started as a beer stand. Alan Schafer and his father were in the beer and wine business in North Carolina, but when the area went dry, they moved across the border to South Carolina to set up shop in 1949.

Legend has it that when Schafer ordered building materials a few years later, they were delivered to "Schafer Project South of the [North Carolina] Border." He thought that was kind of catchy and named his new enterprise South of the Border. From there it was a no-brainer to add Pedro and the Mexican theme.

These days, South of the Border is a $40 million enterprise with nearly 20 shops, eateries, a motel, two gas stations, campsite, fireworks, a convention center, amusement park, a gigantic revolving Mexican sombrero and the statues. In addition to the Pedro collection, there is a big gorilla, a huge golf ball, some sea captains, a few flamingos and a blue rhinoceros. The motel is even said to have a haunted room.

As intriguing as all that is, South of the Border is not generally thought of as a destination by itself. Millions of people have stopped there for food, gas, bathroom breaks or just to air out the kids. And millions of others have passed right by, wide-eyed and shaking their heads in wonder.

But to go there on purpose?

Susanne Pelt, who is public relations director and personnel director, says it happens more often than you might think: "People from up North and people from farther South sometimes meet here in the middle for their family reunions."

Some people even have their weddings there. As a notary public — or "Pedro of the peace," if you will — Pelt figures she's tied the knot for about 500 couples.

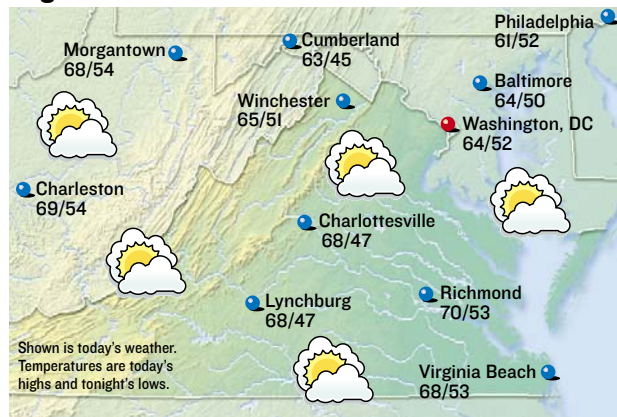

She says one couple wanted to get married inside the towering sombrero with a Doberman pinscher as an attendant.

"The bride said it was her baby," explained Pelt, "and it wore a pink bow on its neck." SHIRLEY O'BRYAN SMITH (AP)

A New, Hipper Kind Of Advent Candle

Holiday shopping can get the best of you and your wallet. KIEHL'S SCENTED CANDLES ($28, kiehls.com) are no exception. The two limited-edition scents, Amber and Grapefruit, are good for battling the stressful buying season, but they're not miracle workers. Amber will relax your mind after the mall-induced headaches; in the morning, you can burn the grapefruit scent to jump-start your day and tackle the stores all over again. But in the end, you'll still remember that you paid 30 bucks for a candle to do Tylenol's job. QUAND ROBINSON (EXPRESS)

CVS is no place to shop for couture. Those of you (or, um, us) who need a little help when it comes to reading can now welcome CHEATERS READING GLASSES' new online site (cheatersreadingglasses.com). Piles of nonprescription choices (we have our quickly deteriorating sight set on the retro Flamingo) means no dealing with the rack near the pharmacy. Plus, they have an extensive selection of sunglass readers and bifocals. Prices are higher than what you'd pay at the drugstore, but for those who aren't ready to admit they're getting old, cool is worth the extra cash. K.P.K.

Stuff It!

The best part about stockings is there always might be another present, waaay down in the toe. Plus, that's usually where Santa puts the candy, the better to fuel the sugarfied insanity that makes Christmas special. Why give up the greatness just because you've grown up? Adult-friendly stockings combine that sense of childlike wonder with your ever-growing desire not to decorate your house with dancing, singing, scarf-wearing glittery snowmen.

No More Md. Slams for Duff

HOMETOWNS | With the reported split between teen sensation Hilary Duff and Good Charlotte frontman and Maryland native Joel Madden, one thing is pretty clear: Duff will be less in a position to call Madden's hometown, Waldorf, "a pretty ghetto place in Maryland."

Madden

That caused quite the stir when her comments surfaced in Elle magazine earlier this year and found their way into Southern Maryland's gossip and chattering circles.

According to The Washington Post, a Duff publicist said she was actually referring to Madden's apartment in Baltimore.

Housing the Homeless

NEIGHBORHOODS | With Christmas less than a month away, the coming winter is already bringing out the best in rapidly gentrifying D.C.: According to Voice of the Hill, residents in the Mount Vernon Triangle and Near Northwest neighborhoods are upset by temporary homeless shelters erected at 4th and L streets NW.

In previous years, these trailers, which are intended for the coldest months only, stood at New York Avenue and 11th Street NW; neighbors complained that the city allowed them to fall into disrepair and that the structures were only moved when it was evident that they were completely dilapidated. The new trailers aren't being greeted warmly in their new digs, where condos are being constructed nearby.

MICHEL DU CILLE/TWP

A READEXPRESS.COM reader posted a comment, wondering about how the District treats its homeless population: "Why are downtown D.C. neighborhoods the dumping grounds for the homeless in the D.C. metro area? The D.C. [government] needs to get it through their minds that packing people into a trailer and throwing a couple of baloney sandwiches in the cage will not only keep people homeless, but it'll bring the surrounding neighborhood down with them."

What do you think the District should do with the thousands of homeless who call the streets home? Send your thoughts to COMMENTS@READEXPRESS.COM.

Freedom Rock

Post music critic J. FREEDOM DU LAC was online Tuesday at washingtonpost.com to discuss Grammy noms, iTunes' search engine and speculation about rock stars in Congress.

Now that we have John Hall [D., N.Y.] as the first rock 'n' roll congressman, who else would make a good representative? Courtney Love would certainly add some excitement to the House.

Sen. Iggy Pop has a nice ring to it, don't ya think? Rep. Busta Rhymes, too.

Maybe this is Rob Pagararo's department, but I find the search engine on iTunes laughable. I mean, try typing in something with a slight error in it, like "Narls Barkley," and you won't get anywhere. So now we consumers have to know how to spell what we're looking for?

Which is especially annoying given that so many artists purposely misspell things.

Don't the Grammy Award nominations come out soon? Have you heard any buzz? Do you have any thoughts on who might be nominated for record or album of the year?

They're announced a week from Thursday. There will be a major revolt if "Crazy" doesn't get a record of the year nomination. I think Justin Timberlake will scoop up a fair amount of nominations (and I wouldn't be shocked if Nelly Furtado gets named a bunch, too — could be a big day for Timbaland). I have a bet going with an editor that the Dixie Chicks are going to get an album of the year nomination. Some guy named Dylan is probably going to get one, as well.

When will it be my turn to marry Pamela Anderson? I'm willing to get a neck tattoo if that will help me skip a few places in line.

If it's all about the neck tat, then you've got no chance against that obnoxious dude who won "Project Runway."

Horoscope

By Stella Wilder

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) A random approach is not for you. You'll want to have every move planned out with great care, minimizing the chances for an accident.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may have the time, the money and the inclination to be a little extravagant as the day comes to a close. Do something special for someone.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) The masculine and the feminine in you will both be readily apparent. You needn't worry about the impression you leave.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You're not likely to be as interested in the performance of your duties as you are in the quiet study of your own motives and methods.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Something you've been planning for some time may seem rather unpromising, especially now that it is the next in a long line of important and complicated activities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Consider the odds before placing any type of bet, or before setting out on a journey over uncharted terrain. Better safe than sorry.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be most content making efforts to please others. Domestic activities bring you the most satisfaction. Do something to your home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll very likely gravitate toward those who share your feelings about a highly volatile, controversial issue.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Now is no time to throw caution to the wind. On the contrary, you'll want to travel a rather conservative path and avoid unnecessary side trips.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be able to see through others when they are departing from the truth — and you, too, will be rather transparent as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) What seems accidental may be anything but, when all is said and done. You may find you've been the target of a particularly complex scheme.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Privacy is important to you, but you must first settle an ever-mounting conflict with a friend or loved one.

Babies Don't Wait for Privacy

IN RESPONSE TO TUESDAY'S letter ("Breast-Feed in Private"), I completely understand the discomfort associated with women breast-feeding in public because of our culture's standards of decency. However, as a woman who breastfed her child, I would like to raise the point that not every situation allows women to use discretion. When you have a hungry and irritated baby who wants to be fed and doesn't care where you are, the only thing on your mind is feeding that baby. Would you prefer a screaming baby on an airplane or a woman breast-feeding publicly?

MICHAEL RICHARDS' publicist now has to explain how the comic could consider himself to be Jewish. Last week, Howard Rubenstein acknowledged that Richards had shouted anti-Semitic remarks in an April comedy routine. He defended Richards, saying that the comic "is Jewish ... He was role-playing." But Richards has not converted to Judaism and neither of his parents is Jewish. "Technically, not having been born by blood as Jewish and not formally going into a conversion, it was purely his interpretation of having adopted Judaism as his religion," Rubenstein said. "He said, 'I agree with the concepts and the religious beliefs of Judaism and I've adopted Judaism as my religion.' ... He really thinks of himself as Jewish." (AP)

A Message from

A Chain of Giving & Caring

We live in a big country, a country filled with people who are selfless and sharing. A country, also, where millions of us need and depend on the help and generosity of others from time to time.

America's Charities' role is to connect the spirit of giving and caring with the opportunity to help someone in need ... a sick child, a troubled teen, an unemployed mechanic, or an elderly grandmother.

Since 1980, America's Charities has distributed nearly $400 million to thousands of charities across the country.

These funds come from the payroll-giving donations made by members of our Armed Services, employees of the federal government, state and local, and large and small businesses throughout the country -- people just like you.

These caring people have designated a contribution out of their payroll to help a charity that, in turn, helps someone in need. It's a wonderful chain of caring and giving. We're honored to play a role in that process.

For each of us, individually, consider how you can get involved by helping to support one additional charity this year through your financial support or volunteer efforts.

America is a big country – and our world community is bigger. But we're also one human family. We all succeed and do better when we help one another.

And, when we help someone in need, doesn't it feel like the right thing to do?

Thanks to You

Hungry children won't suffer the pangs of hunger.

When you give to America's Second Harvest — The Nation's Food Bank Network, you provide food for hungry people in your neighborhood and across the country. We stop food from going to waste and send it to food banks and food-rescue organizations. Every $1 you give distributes $30 worth of food that would have gone to waste. Join the fight to end hunger!

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

Liberty's crown is missing a point. When do you think you would have noticed? When three or four points were missing? Maybe that would have been too late. And that's exactly our point. Most of us don't notice when our freedoms are eroding.

That's why we notice. We're the ACLU. Every time a freedom that is guaranteed by the Bill of Rights begins to erode, we're right there. Not to take sides but to protect the principle this country was founded on. Freedom. Guaranteed to all.

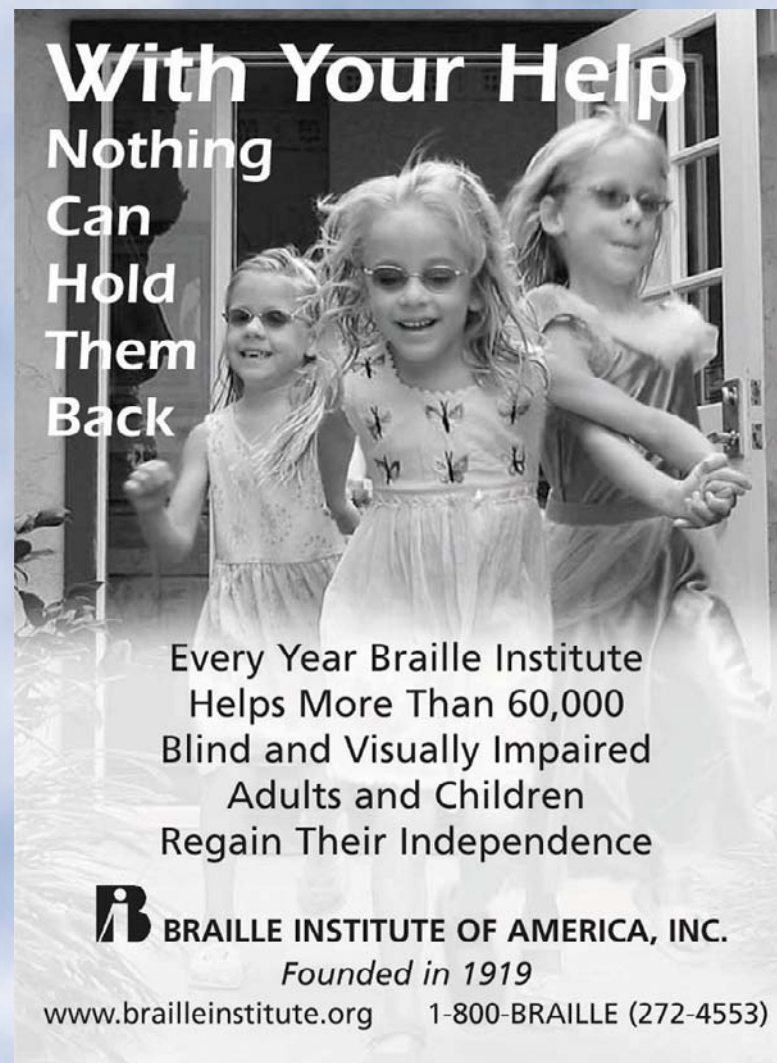

The ACLU has been protecting civil liberties for over 80 years. Help us protect them for the next 80 by supporting the ACLU Foundation through the CFC.

Freedom is why we're here.

Imagine having a disease so rare that none of your friends have heard of it. So rare that your doctor has never seen it. So rare that no one is doing research to find a cure.

Since 1983, NORD has provided programs of research, education, advocacy and patient services for the 25 million Americans with rare disorders. Your support will help us continue to do so.

Because every life is important, and no disease is rare when it affects someone you love.

A Humane Society Starts with You

The Humane Society of the United States has worked since 1954 to promote the protection of all animals. With nearly 10 million members and constituents, headquarters in the nation's capital, regional offices from coast to coast, and a family of affiliate organizations working around the globe, we celebrate the human-animal bond and confront animal cruelty in all of its forms both at home and abroad.

We work to reduce animal suffering and create meaningful social change by advocating for public policies to protect animals, investigating institutional and individual acts of cruelty and abuse, supporting the efforts of local animal shelters and humane organizations, educating consumers and retailers, and sending animal rescue teams into the field whenever and wherever disaster strikes.

We have made many advances on behalf of animals, but our work is far from done—and we need your help to continue creating a truly humane society.

One may ask what is an “urban oasis”? One visit to Park Bethesda and you will definitely know.

Once you open the door to 5325 Westbard Avenue in Bethesda, you enter a world where urban meets nature. A fusion of contemporary elements enveloped in a scenic setting, Park Bethesda is inspired by schick urban design and infused by nature.

Nestled conveniently next to the Capitol Crescent Trail, Park Bethesda offers residents an array of amenities and floor plans that compliment any lifestyle.

Known as one of the premier communities in the Washington area, Park Bethesda has long attracted those interested in convenient, smart living.

With several floor plans to choose from, the exceptional apartment homes of Park Bethesda render a high quality of interior elegance. Each home features high end appointments.

The gourmet kitchens are complete with granite countertops and GE profile appliances. A serious cook's dream, the kitchens have plenty of prep space for preparing meals or even entertaining.

Each floor plan offers unique living space, which provides a multitude of interior design options. If you are one who enjoys entertaining, you will find that each floor plan is designed with an intelligent conception for space and comfort. This is further complimented by the powder room and dual access bathrooms, in select homes.

Even if you are not entertaining, each apartment home offers space, comfort and unique design, in pampering its residents in a world of serenity.

Additional complimentary appointments include, loft style ceilings, washer and dryers, industrial windows showcasing scenic wooded views and large cityscape balconies in select homes.

If you desire more of the condo living environment, then you will definitely enjoy the loft style penthouse. These elegant homes are multi-level floor plans, located at the top of the building. With breath taking views of the metropolitan area, these oversized apartments are enhanced in sophistication and elegance and feature all of the Park Bethesda signature appointments.

A NATURALLY BETTER PLACE TO LIVE.

Park Bethesda is about smart living. The community has select amenities, which add value and make life convenient.

Consider the state-of-the-art fitness center, where you can work-out in the convenience of your home at no extra cost. If yoga or stretching is your interest, you might be interested in the aerobics center. Or maybe you just want to get out of your apartment and relax in the plush resident lounge in front of the fireplace. Need assistance? Just ask the concierge, available to you 24-hours each day.

If you enjoy the outdoors, Park Bethesda is right next to the Capitol Crescent trail, where you can bike, walk and jog. And if you choose to bike, there is a bike amenity room, where residents may store their bikes.

Nightlife is only foot steps away, as the community is perfectly situated within a diversity of area conveniences. Fine dining, local spirits, shopping and cultural fare are at your doorstep at the Park Bethesda. The community is easy accessible to the metro, metrobus and ride-on.

Convenient. Urban. Serene. Unique. All in an environment you'll love to call home. An urban oasis. That is what Park Bethesda is all about.
